

Dr. Poli Lekas, MD, MSc, FRCPC Nephrology

405-377 Church Street, Markham, ON

Phone: (905) 554-5517 Fax: (905) 554-1223

July 2, 2026

Admissions Committee

Office Administration – Health Services

Health Systems Management (Postgraduate)

Fanshawe College

Re: Letter of Recommendation for Livie Grimaldi

Dear Admissions Committee,

My name is Marko Lekas, and I am the Clinic Manager for Dr. Poli Lekas Nephrology Clinic. I am writing to provide my full support for Livie Grimaldi application to the Office Administration – Health Services diploma program or the Health Systems Management postgraduate program at Fanshawe College.

I have worked directly with Liv in our medical clinic, where I personally trained her on a part-time basis to support administrative operations and gain hands-on experience in healthcare administration. My goal in bringing her into the clinic was to provide structured training in medical office operations and electronic health record systems while contributing to our administrative capacity.

From the beginning, Liv demonstrated a strong willingness to learn and adapt to the demands of a clinical environment. She was introduced to the Accuro Electronic Medical Record (EMR) system, where she received training in appointment scheduling, patient record management, chart organization, documentation workflows, and administrative procedures essential to the operation of a medical practice.

Over time, she became increasingly confident in navigating clinical administrative systems and demonstrated strong attention to detail, reliability, and respect for confidentiality. She understood the importance of accuracy in medical documentation and consistently approached her responsibilities with professionalism and care.

As she gained experience within the clinic, Liv began identifying opportunities to improve administrative efficiency through digital tools and remote support systems. This led to the development of a virtual administrative services model designed to support healthcare operations from a home office environment when additional administrative capacity is required.

Liv spent countless hours developing a web based system offering virtual administration services.

I worked directly with Liv in exploring and supporting this virtual administrative approach, which combines remote workflow coordination, scheduling support, and digital administrative processes. This initiative reflects her ability to apply practical healthcare knowledge in combination with modern technology to solve real operational challenges and automation.

In addition to her healthcare training, Liv brings extensive prior experience from regulated professional industries, including real estate brokerage operations, corporate administration, legal documentation coordination, and client service management. She also completed advanced education toward becoming a Managing Broker of Record and Mortgage professional, which required discipline, regulatory understanding, and strong organizational skills.

Her ability to transition from a long-established career into healthcare administration while simultaneously learning complex systems such as EMR platforms demonstrates adaptability, resilience, and strong intellectual capacity.

Based on my direct experience working with her, I am confident that Liv will succeed in both academic programs at Fanshawe College and will continue to develop into a skilled and valuable contributor to the healthcare field.

Without reservation, I fully support her application and you may contact me if you have any further inquiries.

Sincerely,
Marko Lekas